Here We Found

Growing up in a modern age, we have constantly been surrounded by change, modification, industrialization, space exploration, and scientific progress. We have seen those around us being met with these situations; and we have seen them either succeed or fail.

In order to meet the challenge of the future, we must learn from the mistakes and accomplishments of others. We must learn to experiment, to persevere, and finally to be victorious. Our high school years have provided a sound foundation on which to build our futures. Profiting from our high school experiences, we shall be able to face the challenge of an unexplored future in the world before us.

...And Met It

Dedicated to . . .

Mr. Phillip F. Flaherty

As an expression of our admiration and gratitude, we, the Class of 1963, dedicate our yearbook to you, Mr. Flaherty.

We have truly enjoyed being students in your classes because you have made our history courses literally come alive.

Just as important, your friendship and advice have served as valuable counsel throughout our years at Westwood High School.

Mr. Flaherty, we wish to thank you for all this and more.

A bit of advice.

We Bid Farewell To . . .

MR. EDMUND W. THURSTON

We, the Class of 1963, wish to thank Mr. Edmund W. Thurston for his many years of work as Superintendent of the Westwood School System. Not only has his work in an official capacity been instrumental in our high school education; but even more, his friendship and guidance has been received with pleasure by each and every one of us. Speaking for the teachers and students alike, the Green Years Staff sincerely thanks Mr. Thurston.

And Welcome . . .

MR. ERWIN A. GALLAGHER

The 1963 Green Years Staff, on behalf of the entire student body, wishes to welcome to our school system a new Superintendent. We are glad to have Mr. Erwin A. Gallagher in Westwood. Mr. Gallagher will help the students face the challenge of the future in his administration, by dealing not only with an expanding population problem, but also with individual students' problems. We wish Mr. Gallagher the best of luck in his future here in Westwood.

Defining The Challenge...

To The Graduating Class:

May this book always remind you of some of the happiest and most valuable days of your life. The memories will be happy if you have made them so. They will be valuable when you keep sacred to yourselves the lessons of good conduct and honest living which your school has tried to teach.

May high ideals and good fortune attend you always.

Under the direction of the English Department, we have gained proficiency in the use of the written and spoken language. Our teachers have guided our reading, teaching us to appreciate and enjoy literature, be it novels, plays, poems, or essays. Through this department we have received most valuable preparation for college.

SENIORS

As the seniors face graduation, we are aware of many ideas, attitudes, and actions changing, ending, and beginning.

Graduation marks the end of four years at Westwood High—wonderful years filled with friendships, learning, and experiences—— years which we will remember for the rest of our lives. Graduation also marks a beginning of a new life—a life of new friendships, new learning, and experiences—a life which appears sometimes frightening.

Thus graduation, a time of ending and beginning, is a time toward which we look with mixed emotions, hoping for the strength to meet whatever challenge may be placed before us.

SENIOR REFLECTIONS . . .

CLASS HISTORY

Where, oh where were the pea-green freshmen in September of 1959? Certainly not at the high school! We had been endowed with the privilege of remaining King of the Mountain at the junior high another year. Seems Mr. Flaherty's prayers had been answered.

In between Timmy Keefe's parties, dancing in the gym after lunch, and giving Mr. Divine a difficult time, we found time to elect some officers to lead our class to great heights. We chose Bill Arpe as president, Cheryl Milk as vice president, Jack Maguire as treasurer, and Judy Grover as secretary. Before we knew it, winter had rolled by, and we found ourselves planning for a graduation dance, "Three Steps to Heaven." The dance and the year had been a success, and we looked forward to our next year at the high school. However, in spite of our efforts, Miss Bolles was promoted to the high school with us!

Where, oh where were the silly sophomores in September of 1960? Lord knows, but I'm sure we didn't. After a brief indoctrination assembly during which we were informed that snowball throwing and desk carving would not be tolerated, we ventured forth into a labyrinth of corridors to seek and find . . . the rest rooms! Oh joy! Large mirrors!

The weeks passed by, and we finally memorized our locker combinations. By some stroke of fate Bill Arpe was re-elected to preside over our class, with Jack Maguire at his right hand; Janice Keltie took charge of our empty treasury; and Judy Grover sat on Jack's lap, supposedly taking notes. With these officers, how could we miss?

Our first dance we called "Spook Spectacular," which was precisely what it was . . . no one came! However, in February we rallied our spirits and put all our efforts into another dance, "Cupid's Caper." Well, we didn't keep Janice especially busy that year.

Where, oh where were the jolly juniors in September of 1961? Most likely we were sauntering around administering haughty glances to the lowly underclassmen. Who'd ever believe we were once freshmen? Having elected Jack Maguire, president; Dave Millane, vice president; John Olson, treasurer, and Rosalie Kovar, secretary, we soon met and made plans for a Sadie Hawkins square dance, "Junior Round-up." We were very proud and surprised to have one of the first class dances to be a success!

As the flowers started to bloom in the spring, we were reminded of our task as juniors—the prom. We chose Bill Arpe and Sandra Stanley co-chairmen, and soon turned Mr. Kocina's office into an artificial flower factory. "Rhapsody in Blue" became the theme, and very appropriately we held the prom at Blue Hills Country Club. After the prom we were privileged to have complete use of the Huntington Avenue YMCA, thanks to Mr. Thompson's kind assistance.

As June rolled by, we all looked forward to our last year at Westwood High when we'd be "you-know-whats."

No sense asking anybody where the grand old seniors were in September of 1962. We were everywhere although we felt rather outnumbered by the scores of underclassmen who had invaded our domain. The names of our officers sounded vaguely familiar: chief executive, Jack Maguire; second in command, Dave Millane; head of the treasury, John Olson; and pen-scratcher, Rosalie Kovar.

One day a huge wooden crate arrived marked "Special Delivery. Handle with Care." When we opened it, we found a 6'3½" Norwegian and a little card that read, "I am Gunnar Hanssen. I am an AFS student. Please take care of me." So we took him out of the box and sent him to Bob Costos' home to learn how to be an all-American boy.

Soon we had our first dance of the season, "Spirit of '63," to honor our victorious football team. Time was passing quickly; and before we knew it, we had put on very successfully our Senior Class Play, "Pride and Prejudice." Our second dance, "Rebel Rouser," was in celebration of the birthday of General Robert E. Lee. We sho' needed that there money—we even accepted Confederate bonds!

Only a few months were left at Westwood and the time was flying by. Bill Arpe was chosen to represent us at the State House. Dave Millane, our basketball hero, made himself over 1000 points during his three years on the team. Were we ever proud! Because of our exceptionally musical class, Mr. Mark arranged for some of our more talented members to put on a Senior Music Assembly. What a marvelous class, huh?

We finally reached the end of the line . . . the class banquet, class day, class trip (a hike over to Farm Pond—we brought our own jelly sandwiches), and graduation. We had broken several records in sports, music, and the brains department, not to mention our exceptional class treasury. Now we were about to set out into separate worlds, to face the challenge of the future.

Amen

CLASS SONG

Since roses are ripening,
Since bees are heavy-laden,
Since the grass is high,
I shall not weep, but I shall say goodbye.

Shall I gather roses,
And let the honey go?
Shall I catch the honey
While sweet wild grasses blow?
(O my meadow is too full,
Too much for one to know.)
Shall the wind have all the roses,
While I lay the grasses low?

Gather the twilight rose, gather the thorn;
Gather the stinging bee and honey at morn;
Gather the harmless grass, leave the earth
shorn;
Gather, gather.

I shall gather roses
But leave the honey fair;
I shall catch the honey,
But leave the grasses there;
(O my meadow is too full,
Too much for one to bear)
The wind shall have the roses
While I lay the meadow bare.

Since roses are ripening,
Since bees are heavy-laden,
Since the grass is high,
I shall turn once, and I shall sigh;
I shall not weep, but I shall say goodbye.

CLASS POEM

One generation faces another,
Amid the ivy, with due pomp,
With high circumstance.
Man the eternal novice,
The taker of the first steps, the utterer
Of first words,
Man the crosser of thresholds,
Is come to the end of another beginning.

Let us begin then, let us commence
Gliding down the spiral of our days
Let us begin working,
Studying, loving,
Marrying, rearing children;
Let us begin the garnering of wisdom,
Now we have finished
With verbs and wars and liters;
Let us begin growing old,
Let us begin dying.
For what is dying but a further commencement,
With God an Instructor
And death
An Institution of Higher Learning?

And since we are two generations face to face,
Each beholding its future in the other,
Let us refuse all calculated griefs,
Let us have no pretense:
We may not synchronize our separate agonies.
We must collaborate on hope;
Our mutual futurity is hope,
The hope of labor, the hope of birth,
The hope of growing, learning children,
The hope of youth, of ourselves, our hope,
And your hope.

One generation faces another,
Amid the ivy, with due pomp,
With high circumstance.
Man the eternal novice,
The taker of first steps, the utterer
Of first words,
Man the crosser of thresholds,
Is come to the end of another beginning.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

The Class Prophecy

BUBBLING BROOK FARM—1988

The "Caroline Kennedy Tour Through the White House Show" will not be seen this week in order that we might bring you this special broadcast from the tiny hamlet of Westwood, Massachusetts. Here the members of the class of 1963 have banded together in a venture to establish their own experimental Utopia, BUBBLING BROOK FARM. We are deeply indebted to C.S.B. president, Jackie Maguire, and Chairman of the Board of Bell Telephone, Alan Freeman, for making this world wide telecast by telstar satellite possible.

Now we bring you to Westwood and our correspondent there Steve Milley. "Hello, world. This is your C.S.B. on-the-spot correspondent, Flash Milley. We are gradually making our way through the throngs who are lining High Street. I'd like to take a moment to thank my chauffeur, John Olson, a native of Westwood, who got time off from his boss, Mary Ivan, of Ivan's Taxi Service in order to assure my safe passage to the BROOK. John, as you may know, received a certificate of merit from Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Kevin Reardon, for having had no accidents in the last twenty-five years. Waving to John from the crowd is his lovely wife, the former Paula Mezzetti, Westwood Town Clerk.

"Bustling around in an attempt to keep some semblance of order are police officers, William Brunton, Timothy Keefe, and John Puccio. Waving sensuously from the doorway of the "5 K's" is the effervescent proprietress, Bubbles Stanley, and her two waitresses, Madeline Pritchard and Doris Cataldo. Bubbles just bellowed that the trick meat slicer at Crossman's Market, Robert Murphy, has been able to get time off from his boss, John Sheehan, in order to assist Westwood High School cafeteria ladies, Susan Steinmetz, Nancy Beale, Carol Swist, and Margaret Kelleher, who have graciously volunteered to cater a meal for visiting alumni. Naturally, custodians, David Millaine and Cyrus Radford, will be on hand to pass out paper cups and plates.

"As we advance past the new Lake Shore Drive fire station, we see Chief, Bruce Nichols, polishing his prize hook and ladder truck. Bruce souped up this baby himself since Selectmen Tom Thompson, Guy Tringali and Chris Vale, refused to appropriate the funds for a new engine. Balancing precariously from the station bell are firemen, Lawrence McGee and Eddie Mayhew.

"Incidentally, this spacious Volkswagen convertible was lent to us by Durdle Motors International. Marjorie gained world-wide automotive fame when she took the Indianapolis 500 away from the five-year champion, James Dowd. You may be interested in knowing who is riding in that luxurious Caddie behind us. It's Hollywood lovelie, Judy Grover. With Judy is the male lead in her last picture, The House at Pooh Corner Revisited, Erol 'Nick' Flinn.

"Western Union boy, Bill Watson, has just informed me that our Norwood correspondent, Ellen Stoebel, is ready to cut in with some interesting statistics concerning the formation of the FARM. Take it away, Ellen."

"Thank you, Flash. It seems that the whole idea was originated by reactionary, Beverly Matthei, as a solution to the problem of keeping her former classmates out of Craigin's Bar and Grill. Bob, as you know, led the illustrious struggle to make Westwood a wet town. Beverly, after a bitter struggle with Trappist monk, Robert Henderson, who wanted a location for a monastery, was finally awarded the site by Judge Joe Carr. The construction contract for the barn dormitories and farmhouse was given to the Edythe Brown Construction Company, with the understanding that Mary Lee Daigle and Stacey Coleman of Daigle and Coleman Plumbing were to provide the necessary sanitation facilities. Funds for the venture were donated by millionaire philanthropist, Howard Perkins, and oil tycoon, Richard Peksens. The only serious obstacle thwarting the progress of the project was in evicting hermit Brad Waterman from the site. He had been in complete seclusion these last twenty-five years trying to write an essay on Macbeth. Once rid of Waterman, who, incidentally, was placed under the care of psychiatrists, Langdon Allen and Bob Kammer, of the John Carew Memorial Sanitarium, construction got readily underway. The only other difficulty was a disagreement between noted artists, Richard Brann and Delevan Bartholomew. It seems Ricky wanted to cover the barn's exterior with water-proof, crayon-resistant Kem-tone floral wallpaper. Bartholomew was strictly a house paint man. The latter's idea being the more practical, it won the approval of Farm Planning Board members Dorothy Carvill, Faith Dickhaut, and Wayne Henry. Landscapists Noble Hansen and Richard Hayes of the Fay & Fay Nurseries did an excellent job of planting. Communications experts Kenneth Moffat, Bill Bergen, and Greg Jackson completely outfitted the farm in aqua Princess phones, making the BUBBLING BROOK FARM the only agricultural center in the world with a Princess phone in every chicken coop. Now back to your on-the-spot correspondent Flash Milley."

"Hello again, world. We are now in the immediate vicinity of the FARM. Unfortunately, we had to abandon our Volkswagen since, despite the efforts of grease monkey, Linda Sessler, and her two chimpanzees-er-assistants, Laurene Shaw and Carol Selian, a boulder thrown beneath the car by saboteur, Suzanne Roche, could not be dislodged. The strains of music in the background are the pathetic attempts of the Westwood High School Band under the direction of Edward Walker. Which reminds me, later in the program we will be hearing from Michael Monaghan. Mike was a promising clarinetist in high school and everyone said he would go far. He certainly did. We are indeed fortunate that Mike could leave his position as the Salvation Army clarinetist on the corner of Boylston and Tremont to be here for the ceremony. Later on in the program he will give his rendition of "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" accompanied by his favorite tambourine girl, Karen Saad. Other entertainment will be provided for by that popular local quartet, the Beavers—Arthur Potter, Doug Biggar, Kathleen Small, and Theresa Panek, who will sing excerpts from Handel's Messiah, arranged for the occasion by Bill Cooney and Carol Lee Fitch.

"Stumbling over camera girl, Pat Fraumeni, who has become entangled in a mass of wires, we finally make it across the main gate with the help of attendant, Nancy Luippold. We are greeted by Telstar Twinkletoe Hostesses, Nancy Balabanis, Barbara Banks, Patricia Fuller, and Joyce Clancy. Joyce informs me there have been many infamous people passing through the gates this afternoon, such as the ardent prohibitionist, Karl Effgen; acquitted espionage agent, Gunnar Hanssen; poet laureate for the Watertown Elks, Jane Hunt; the famous acrobatic team of Patterson, Sachs, and Talanian; and the world renown woman wrestler, Jerri Siegle, and her trainer, Joe Brink. Running frantically through the crowd is Westwood Press Editor, Anna Napoleone, who has been pestering me all week for a scoop. Transportation across the Brook, Bubbling, is provided for by the Donna Ferry service of Robert Costos.

"As we move through the fields, you can see the first shift of workers, unable to leave their crops in order to attend the festivities. Working feverishly in the wheat field are reapers, Margaret Arlin, Jane Holbrook, and Douglas Doig. Those people waving a greeting are potato pickers, Patricia Cameron, Dorrie Cheever, and Joanne Leslie. Trying vainly to wash the stains from their feet are grape crushers, Joanne Keiran, Robert Kaupin and Pamela Smith. Sitting under that spreading horse-chestnut tree is visiting lecturer from Oxford, Robert Lundquist, and a group of devoted followers. His talk for today is "BROOK FARM and the Metaphysics of Evil." Since the keynote of this project is Equality and Co-operation, even lethargic Mike Mezzocchi and Charles Taylor cannot escape doing their share of the work. In case you are wondering what is causing the commotion over by the cow pens, it appears shepherd, John Macdonald, has fainted from the excitement and nurses, Joanne Mazzola and Dorothy Nelson, are trying to revive him. That colorful spectacle over to the right is geese maidens, Beverly Hickey, Gwendolyn Johnson and Patricia Bolster, who have lost control of their flock. The geese, in turn, have attacked balloon man, Ricky

Curtis, causing him to lose his last fifteen helium balloons. Laughing uproariously at the spectacle are house maids, Donna Dima, Susan Beaumont and Nancy Borg, who all work on the estate of Carl Benson. Carl became a millionaire overnight when his construction company built an underground garage beneath the Gene Kirby Professional Building.

"Word has reached me that Andrew Brauer has just landed in his flying saucer. Andy made this saucer with the help of M.I.T. professor, Rosalie Kovar. Rosalie shouts a greeting to olympic skier, Alan Randlov, being fanned beneath a potted palm by an admiring crowd. Included in the crowd are Patricia Danahy and Paul Baker of the Blue Angels; Woolworth's candy corn salesgirl, Anne Larcom; and Buddhist priestesses, Gale Borek and Kathy Begley. That big Navy limousine that just passed us was carrying Rear Admiral Gregory McDonnell and his usual crowd of personal secretaries: Janet Concrecree, Joyce DeFranco, Susan Adams and Ellen Diman.

"An ugly rumor has been spreading that capitalists, Joyce Oetinger and Janet Mormino, have been banished from the FARM. It is said these girls had been trying to undermine the FARM project by infiltrating democratic dogma.

"Let's go into the main farmhouse. This homey room is the soup kitchen. Chief Cambell Soup opener, Bill Arpe, is bawling out his helpers, Patricia McCrave, Jacqueline Vanderwal, Frances Wallace and Mary Sweeney. It seems that the girls had been mixing tomato with chicken gumbo without realizing it. Fortune cookie maker, James Russell, and his proof-reader, Gail Stewart, aided by Reverend Stephen Macdonald are trying vainly to silence the quarrel, since they must put up a front of living in peace and harmony together. FARM coolies, Pamela Stone, Toni Salvatore, and Beth Richardson, are bringing in a gift from Rear Admiral McDonnell: Twenty seven cartons of navel oranges! That pensive individual we just passed is FARM sanitation expert, Meredith Lassell, emptying the garbage. Meredith is being greeted by Ann Peavey, Joan O'Neil, Janet Nicholas, and Kathleen Morrison, who have been appointed to lifetime positions as Westwood Tribune paper girls.

"We regret that we are unable to finish this telecast so as to include the rest of the activities—Sandy Margeson, Phyllis MacLean, Janet Lemieux, "The Rosebud Girls", doing their interpretive dance depicting the FARM development; or Janet Hyder at the cotton candy concession; or Shelia McMann and Margaret Mellows of M&M Fireworks Inc., who are giving a display. But we must turn the next hour over to your favorite weekly program—"William Lordan Knows Best."

"So on behalf of C.S.B. TV and Bell Telephone—thank you and good night."

The senior class play, Pride and Prejudice, under the direction of Miss Jackson was not only a superb production, but also a financial success. Karen Saad, Joe Brink, Jane Hunt and Richard Peksens are to be congratulated for their convincing performance, and Faith Dickhaut, Joanne Kieran, Nancy Beale, Stephen MacDonald, and Bob Kammer for the marvelous interpretation of the supporting roles. Special mention goes to the student manager, Jerri Seigle, and to the costume director, Miss Masson, along with the entire class for their fine cooperation.

... And The Junior Prom

One of the most memorable events of our high school years was our Junior Prom, Rhapsody In Blue. As we walked through a beautiful flowered trellis, we entered the elaborate ballroom of the Blue Hills Country Club, where the scenery and colorful decorations created a majestic effect. Mr. Monaghan and his orchestra, under a blue carousel, enchanted us with their music. Queen Marsha Rich and King Mike Hayward sat on a flower-bedecked garden swing, surrounded by the members of the court: Anne Eosco, Carol Martin, Sandra Lundell, Lynn Sparks, Sandra Stanley, and Patricia Cameron. This gala affair reflected the hard work and planning by everyone in our junior class.

CLASSES

Just as the seniors set the example for the juniors, so each class sets and follows an example.
Juniors, sophomores, and freshmen all will meet and overcome the same problems, experience the same pleasures and excitements, and face the same challenges which we have faced in our years at Westwood High.

GREEN YEARS STAFF

The Green Years Staff, chosen in the early part of the year, has been hard at work meeting deadlines ever since. Taking pictures, gathering advertisements, writing class papers, selling yearbooks, typing, and planning page designs, the entire staff has been working under Mr. Flahive to produce a yearbook which will serve as a wonderful reminder of all our high school years.

Miss Keenan
Advisor

OFFICERS

Sandra Stanley, Treasurer; William Arpe, President; Kathy Begley, Secretary; Terry Hansen, Vice president.

This year the Student Council consisted of eight seniors, seven juniors, six sophomores, and six freshmen. These representatives are elected by their respective classes.

The President, William Arpe, has organized the Student Council in an admirable fashion. With the guidance of Miss Keenan, the council was very active in the school's affairs. This year they planned the school menu for the month of February. Its regular program is to sell school book covers and to provide money for the A.F.S. program. The annual Christmas dance, the Snowflake Frolic, was another of their exciting activities. The Student Council ended its successful year with a banquet in the spring.

Unique Formations Please Band Fans

The Westwood High School Band, under the direction of Mr. Markarian, has led the school in another exciting year. Being present at the football games, the band aided the students in cheering for our team. Its fine performances during the half-times have earned much praise. So much, in fact, that our band was asked to perform at a Patriots football game, an invitation that was indeed an honor.

DANCE BAND

The Dance Band, which is directed by Mr. Monaghan, is well-known for its superior quality. It plays not only for school functions, but also for local organizations. This year they generously put on an assembly for the children in the lower grades.

ORCHESTRA

Westwood High School has always been commended on its fine Orchestra. Because of limited time this year, the Orchestra has arrived early Thursday mornings in order to practice before school. With this enthusiasm, we expect that the Spring Concert will be a success.

A Cheer for the Team

Majorettes Perform Clever Half-time Routines

The trick twirlers, Cheryl Hicks and Jane Anderson, have directed the Westwood High School majorettes in their intricate routines for many activities including football games, parades, and pep rallies. Their hard work has produced wonderful results which are worthy of praise.

Drill Team Polishes Precise Routines

The Westwood High School drill team under the patient direction of Mr. Monaghan deserves much credit for their astounding halftime performances. Commander Jane Holbrook is to be applauded for the team's fine precision and their difficult routines. The drill team performed along with the band at the Patriot's football game and was a great success.

SCIENCE FAIR COMMITTEE

The Science Fair Committee plans and presents the annual Westwood High School Science Fair with their usual efficiency.

Because of the large number of science students, only those taking chemistry and physics are now allowed to participate. With this smaller number of projects, Mr. Sarris believes the public will be able to view the fair with less confusion. In the past years, Westwood has always had several students as finalists in the state science fair competition held at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The science department sponsors several clubs, all of which aim toward understanding of theory and experimentation. The Biology Club works mainly with dissection and genetics; the Physics Club is interested in experimentation with sound, light, and heat; the Chemistry Club does qualitative study in the labs. Club work in the sciences indicates increased interest and enjoyment in these fields on the part of the students.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club, directed by Miss Hemmings, has had a very active program. By meeting at the homes of the various members, much fun was had by all while accomplishing worthwhile work. The club members enjoyed their annual Christmas caroling. The president, John Sheehan, helped to make a very successful year for the French Club.

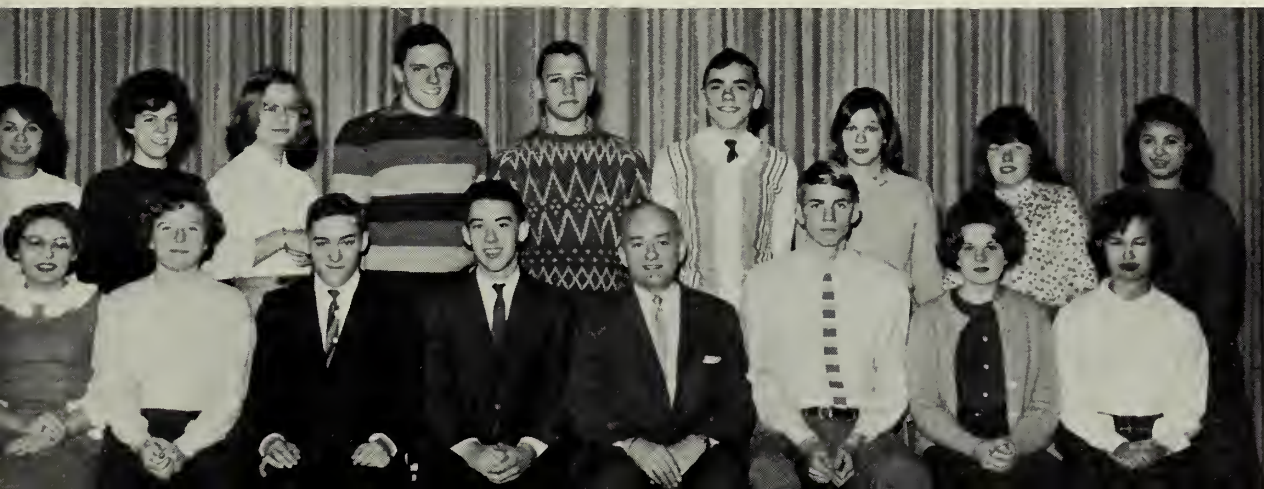

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club, under the supervision of Mr. Arnold, aims toward practice of the spoken language. Conversation and appreciation of the literature of the great German writers are two of the most important aspects of this small club. One of the most enjoyable meetings was held at Christmas when the German Club went caroling, singing German carols.

The Debating Club has had a very interesting year. Under the guidance of Miss Jackson, they have had the good experience of attending a series of debates at Boston College. The club's president, Sandra Stanley, has prepared the club for a National Debate, one which we hope will be successful for them.

RADIO CLUB

John Talanian, the club's president, is organizing a project to present in the Science Fair. The Radio Club is very useful around the school, because they often help in the lighting at the assemblies.

FOOTBALL

Westwood ended another winning season by beating Holbrook in the postponed Thanksgiving Day game. After a very hard-fought game, the Wolverines walked off the field with their first victory over Holbrook, making their record for the season 4 - 3 - 2. Westwood was helped in their victories by the tremendous spirit of the team and of the whole town. The squad was again under the able leadership of Coaches Reis and Cieri. Jack Maguire and Mike Mezzochi also did a fine job as co-captains of the team. Outstanding seniors on the squad included Bob Costos, Richie Hayes, Art Potter, and Greg McDonnell.

Wolverines Win Dual County Crown

The Westwood High School Basketball Team, coached by John Cieri and Gail Thwing, finished up the 1962-63 season with an excellent 20-1 record and the Dual County League Championship under their belts. Although they didn't win the Tech Tourney final in Boston Garden, this team was certainly the best ever. Starters Bill Bergen and Richie Hayes were unable to play in the final game but Captain Dave Millane, Terry Hansen, juniors Tom Begley and Kevin MacDonald, and sophomore Steve Hunt played well. Other seniors on the team who played well and contributed to many wins were John Olson and Bob Costos. Westwood basketball fans will look back on this team for many years as the finest in the history of Westwood High School.

Interest In Track Develops Rapidly

The track team, coached by Mr. Reis, is looking forward to another excellent season this year. Last season they were undefeated and won the Dual County League championship. They also did very well in the South Shore Meet, placing fourth in a field of thirty teams. Outstanding seniors on the squad were Bill Brunton, Noble Hansen, Langdon Allen, Charles Taylor, Lance Patterson, Kenneth Sachs, and Richard Peksens.

Coach Fazzi with captains Beaumont and Kovar.

The girls' basketball team, under the coaching of Miss Fazzi, had another fine season, ending up with a record of six wins and five losses. With seniors Rosalie Kovar, Joan O'Neil, Janet Hyder, Sheila McMann, Linda Sessler, Gail Stewart and Peggy Arlin, they won impressive victories over Bedford, Ashland, Holliston and Wayland.

Credit should also be given to the junior varsity and seniors Paula Mezzetti, Susan Beaumont and Ellen Diman for their good season.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Our field hockey team deserves much credit and admiration for the fine job they did this year. Considering it was only their second year, the varsity, led by seniors Joanne Mazzola, Barbara Banks, and Pam Smith, and juniors Pat Beaumont and Margaret Cameron, compiled a very impressive record of five wins and three losses. They also participated in the Field Hockey Playday at Newton High School.

The junior varsity also displayed good sportsmanship and fine playing ability. Much thanks should be given to Miss Fazzi for her fine job of coaching.

TENNIS

The girls' tennis team under the guidance of Mrs. Charles Hall had one of the best seasons known at Westwood High School. With Margie Durdle, Joanne Kieran, Lauren Fay and Susan Beaumont in the top singles spot, the opposition found it very rough going. The doubles teams of Ellen Diman and Margaret Hurley, and Jerri Siegle and Barbara Banks also added to the strength of the team and helped it to a fine record of six wins and four losses.

The 1962-63 softball team deserves credit for a fine season and many exciting games. The unbeatable combination of Andrea Bartolo as pitcher, Pat Beaumont as catcher, and Rosalie Kovar at first base accounted for many victories. Joan O'Neil, Joyce Clancy, Pam Smith, Beth Richardson, and Madeline Pritchard were also senior standouts.

SOFTBALL

Cheerleaders Provide Team Inspiration

Fight!!!

Enthusiasm and spirit, ingredients which are very important in successful sports, are provided by the cheerleaders. Practicing, making up and performing cheers, and leading the crowds enthusiastically, the cheerleaders helped to lead the teams to victory. Captain Kathy Begley and the rest of the squad deserve our congratulations.

Sound off!
